THE LONG LOOKED FOR HAS COME AT LAST

Completion of Glendale's Second Electric Railway—Another Road Uniting Glendale with Eagle Rock and Los Angeles

ANOTHER CAR LINE.

It's just a block to Eagle Rock,
Another from Glendale.
Oh, some may talk and some may walk,
But I will go by rail!

But go I must for this town dust
Makes lingering here folly,
Trade doctors care for country air
The ambulance for trolley.

With longing cry some seaward hie,
To lounge upon the beaches;
But I would fare where purer air
Sweeps o'er the green-hilled reaches!

Come pack your grip and take a trip
Where foothill lure invites us,
We've lived apart, oh my sweetheart,
But now the rail unites us!

A long hoped for event came to pass last Saturday when Eagle Rock and Glendale were united by an electric car line, giving to Glendale a second electric road to Los Angeles. The new car which was to run over the two-mile stretch between the two places, was placed on the new track from the Los Angeles Railway company's rails in the forenoon, and was scheduled to leave at four o'clock in the afternoon. By one o'clock a few enthusiasts anxious to take a ride on the first car, began to arrive from both towns and by two, a full car load of passengers, the majority of them ladies, were aboard and patiently waiting for the start. It was 5:30 before everything was in readiness and then, the power being turned on, the car actually began to move westward, while the passengers fixed their eyes upon stationary objects to make sure that it was not all a false alarm. But the wheels kept turning and anxiety gave way to enthusiasm as the car moved slowly up the hill under the skillful management of Motorman J. S. McAlpine. A superabundance of small boys had climbed aboard and saw to it that the bell rang constantly. Every minute or two a stop was made for the gang of workmen to clear the dirt from the rails and otherwise make the advance possible. Past barley fields green on the hillsides and orange orchards bathed in the glow of the sunset, the first trip was made into Glendale on the new car line.

At the easterly city limits there is a cut of two or three feet and the banks had not been cut down sufficiently to allow the passage of the car. This was not discovered, however, until the front steps had been bumped off—the first accident on the road! Mr. G. W. Benson, one of the backers of the enterprise, was aboard, and in the excitement of the moment was heard to call the attention of his fellow passengers to a homelike appearing house that was passing by at the rate of a mile in thirty minutes. A fellow passenger had to inform him that it was the Benson mansion, seen for the first time from a car window! Mr. W. J. McCarroll, who also has landed interests along the route of the new road, was busily engaged with pencil and note book, marking up the price of his property as the McCarroll acres swept by. He kept on until he put it out of sight. Passing into town along Third street the car was greeted opposite every house and at the street corners by groups of citizens in all stages of enthusiasm, who waved handkerchiefs, arms and everything else they could get their hands on, at the patriotic crew of the first car who were making history! The rails had not been greased on the turn at Third and Glendale avenue and screeched a melodious announcement of the car's arrival at that point. Forty-seven minutes after starting from Eagle Rock the car reached its destination at Fourth and Glendale avenue. There was a big crowd to welcome it in and three cheers were given for Mr. E. D. Goode, the promoter and proprietor of the road. A big crowd of passengers clambered aboard here and the return trip was made in twenty minutes. The following is a partial list of those who made this first trip from Eagle Rock:

Mrs. Riem, Mrs. G. W. Benson, Mrs. Warren Benson, Miss Anna Magilligan, Mrs. F. W. Nahouse, Mrs. Alice G. Wells of Princeton, Kas.; Mrs. J. C. Sherer, Mrs. Ellenwood, Mrs. Markey, Miss Susie Riem, Miss Lottie Midgley, Miss Daisy Howard, Miss Mabel Benson, Miss Diddock, Mrs. J. O. Adams, Miss Archer, Mrs. Godfrey Edwards, Mrs. Frackelton, Mrs. G. E. Myers, Mrs. Hinckley, Mrs. Cooper, Miss Mabel Myres, Miss Lena Frackelton, Mrs. G. E. Williams; Mr. G. W. Benson, Mr. Ellenwood, Mr. F. W. Williams, Master Warren Willians, Mr. Walter Penn, Mr. A. S. Dodge, Mr. Simeon Grant, Mr. W. J. McCarroll, Masters Earl and Lee McCarroll, Mr. J. Criddle, Mr. Burket, Mr. James Wells, Mr. O. A. Bishop, Master Edmund Parker, Mr. J. C. Sherer, Mr. E. F. Benson.

Already the effect of the new car service to Los Angeles by way of Eagle Rock, is becoming noticeable in the additional number of strangers observed on our streets daily. It is a most attractive program for tourists to go to Glendale by one route and return by the other, for by so doing they can make sure of the most attractive scenic route in the immediate neighborhood of Los Angeles.

The service on the new line is all that could reasonably be expected. The run of two miles between Glendale and Eagle Rock is made in about eight minutes. Close connection is made there with the yellow cars of the Los Angeles Railway system which reach the Plaza in Los Angeles in 32 minutes from Colorado street, Eagle Rock. Thirty-five minutes lands the passengers at First and Spring streets, making the time from Fourth street, Glendale, to First and Spring streets, Los Angeles, forty-five minutes; which is about the time required to go from the same starting point to First and Spring streets, by the Pacific Electric. The fare at present is fifteen cents each way, but we understand that commuters will be able to buy ten tickets over the road between Glendale and Eagle Rock for 25 cents. The Los Angeles Railway company gives transfers also, over any of its lines in the city. There is some reason to believe that Eagle Rock will soon secure a five-cent car fare to Los Angeles, in which event the round trip fare would be exceedingly low. The present system of paying the fare in three installments, although something of a nuisance, will no doubt be changed for the better in the near future.

CELEBRATION OF THE COMPLETION OF THE NEW ROAD.

There was not much time to advertise it, but through the energetic efforts of Secretary Barager of the Board of Trade and a few other citizens, the people generally were apprised of the fact that there was to be a meeting at the skating rink last Tuesday evening to fitly celebrate the completion of the Glendale-Eagle Rock car line. It was the biggest crowd ever assembled in-doors in Glendale by a large majority, the number of people being variously estimated at from 450 to 600. Everybody seemed to be imbued with the proper spirit of the occasion; there were representatives present from Eagle Rock, Tropico, Casa Verdugo, and all the intervening country, and rejoicing and harmony were the prevailing features of the evening. Mr. F. H. Vesper, president of the Board of Trade, presided. The program was pleasantly informal. Music was furnished by Mr. Norman Evans on the piano; Mrs. MacMullin sang a solo in her usual charming style, responding to an encore, both numbers being heartily applauded. A male quartet sang a part song so satisfactorily that they had to be encored and then in accordance with the practice of greater cities, were recalled. Mr. Earl B. Valentine rendered two or three selections on the violin in his best style. The speakers generally had not been apprised of designs upon them, but acquitted themselves admirably. Among those called upon and responding with appropriate words of appreciation of the value of the road to Glendale and vicinity and of the successful efforts of Mr. E. D. Goode, assisted by Mr. R. A. Blackburn in securing it, were the following: George T. Holman of Casa Verdugo; D. Griswold of Tropico, Mr. Tuppen of Eagle Rock, and the following representatives of Glendale: Edgar Leavitt, Esq., H. P. Coker and J. C. Sherer. At the conclusion of the general talk-fest, Mr. T. W. Watson, president of the Board of Trustees, presented to Mr. E. D. Goode with appropriate remarks, a handsome diamond pin as a souvenir of appreciation for his successful and long continued fight for the road just completed. Mr. Goode made a brief response but expressed himself as unable to put his feelings into words.

After this the large audience filed through a side room where a table was spread, and were treated to sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee.

APPRECIATIVE.

We, the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, wish to express to Mr. E. D. Goode our cordial thanks for the attention shown by him in tendering us a pleasant ride over his newly completed railway, and express our hearty appreciation of the big-hearted hospitality of himself and Mrs. Goode, our highly esteemed sister club-worker. We, also further desire to acknowledge the many public services which he has so fully and efficiently rendered, with best wishes for his success in his new undertaking, and in all future enterprises.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB,
Glendale, March 16th, 1909.

To the Citizens of Glendale, Tropico and Eagle Rock:

There are no words which can adequately express the heart-felt appreciation of the many kind and beautiful things which have been said and done in my behalf in connection with the completion of our new road; and although the battle has been long and simetimes fierce, I am amply rewarded for my part, by the kindly feelings manifested at the meeting Tuesday evening, and I most sincerely and earnestly hope that the future acts of my life will justify all you have said. I thank the city trustees, the board of trade, the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon Club and all who contributed to make the reception Tuesday evening one of the brightest and best in my whole life; I thank you more than you will ever realize for the splendid gift which you bestowed upon me, which I know was inspired by good, tender brotherly feeling. It is a gift which I will highly prize as long as life shall last and I desire to thank each and every one who in the slightest degree contributed by word or deed to make this one of the most joyful occasions of my life. And now let us all unite and work harmoniously for all parts of Glendale, and thereby make it what it deserves to be, the fairest home-place on all the earth.

E. D. GOODE.

HISTORY OF THE GLENDALE AND EAGLE ROCK VALLEY.

Three years ago this month, R. A. Blackburn and I commenced the work of endeavoring to secure a right of way and a bonus of $20,000 to induce the Los Angeles Railway company to construct and operate an electric line from their Eagle Rock line at Verdugo road, through the old Workman or Hawes Ranch to Belmont street in Glendale, Mr. Hawes agreeing to pay $11,000.

You are all familiar with the long hard task we had in arccomplishing that result, and when it was finished and we had done all that had been asked of us, how Mr. Hawes refused to fulfill his agreement and our efforts were all for nothing. Of course, the Glendale people were greatly disappointed and discouraged.

At this time I made the following proposition to our citizens, "If a private right of way and $3500 was secured that I would construct and operate an electric or gasoline car line, connecting with the Los Angeles Railway Company at Eagle Rock valley."

The county road from Eagle Rock to the city limits of Glendale was abandoned by the Supervisors, which permitted the property owners fronting on the Eagle Rock road to convey to us a private right of way. The trustees on a petition from the people took the same action on Third street, in this city.

The deeds were made to R. A. Blackburn and to me. The bonus was subscribed and then we used every argument we could think of to induce the Los Angeles Railway company to build the line which we hoped and expected they would. We offered them the bonus and right of way and did all in our power to influence them to construct the road, but they said it was impossible for them to come to Glendale avenue. It seems that this territory is in dispute between the two railway companies and neither of them would cross it. We were much discouraged at his time and during the month of October of last year I told Mr. Blackburn that there was no use of more than one of us working on the project and that if he felt that he could go ahead and work it out in some way and get the road that I would assign all my right, title and interest in the right of way and bonus to him. And that if he did not think he could accomplish it and would assign his interest in it to me I would put it through some way. He decided to turn it over to me, which he did, and since then it has been up to me and no one will ever know what an awful struggle it has been. I know many of you will say "Why did you not tell us you were doing it alone and we would have done more?" To all such I will say it is not yet too late, but I know that if I ever acknowledged it was up to me alone that most of you would have said I could not do it. In fact, I doubted it myself and some citizens said, "Why Goode hasn't money enough to buy ties for a hundred yards." Well, that might have been true, but there are a few things that are as good as money and some better, one of which is credit, and that which is far better, good, true, friends, who have absolute confidence in you to accomplish a thing and are willing to stand by you. And I am proud and fortunate in possessing such friends. But before appealing to them I tried every other way. I went to Mr. Larabeen and Mr. French and tried to secure their assistance, knowing they were railroad men. They secured another party with money who agreed to go in with them and me and build the road, providing I gave them a three-fourths interest and kept one-fourth for myself, the expenses to be paid in accordance with such ratio. It was they who laid the two rails and a few ties near Verdugo road which constituted a beginning.

A few weeks after this the man who had agreed to put up part of the money went back on us and as Mr. Larabee and French had several other enterprises under way which were consuming their time and capital, they did not feel like going ahead, so I was once more left to fight the battle alone. If the subscribers to the bonus had known this I am sure they would have said I could not do it and would have withdrawn their money.

I was greatly discouraged at this time, but still had faith, for it seemed to me the last chance for this side of Glendale and it was at this time that I appealed to my friends. They responded and signed a note with me which enabled me to secure the money with which to pay for the material.

The road is a Glendale product, paid for by Glendale money, and even the track-laying has been done by our neighbor, Mr. Ball, of Vineyard tract.

There are many features of the enterprise which are so unpleasant I will not burden you with them, the hard labor, necessary to secure electricity at a fair price in itself would make a long story. You know what discouragements have been met with by bad weather, but all has been overcome, and we have a road of our own. It is in the name of your humble servant. I have obligated myself for all I am worth to accomplish this result. We do not pretend that this line is as good as that of the Pacific Electric, which is equal to any in the world, but this comes to our own doors and will, we believe, be instrumental in having the Pacific Electric line placed on Fourth street again. When that is done there will be no finer tourist trip in California than to come from Los Angeles on the P. E. road and back over ours by Eagle Rock.

If we patronize the Eagle Rock line liberally we will get many accommodations which they are not granting at present. It now rests with the people of Glendale whether the new line is a success or failure. I have done all I can do up to this time and I will employ men who will treat you courteously and as far as this little road is concerned the people of Glendale shall be treated right.

In closing I desire to express my heart-felt thanks to all who have even had a kind word for me during this long battle, for kind words were needed. Mr. Blackburn since assigning his rights to me has been a faithful advocate of the enterprise as have been all the other city trustees.

The officers of the Bank of Glendale have extended all possible favors that were consistent with good banking. But Mr. George Benson has done more than any other one person to assist me in making our road possible. Mr. B. S. Quick of Glendale, and Mr. J. Q. Adams of Eagle Rock are two other friends who have given material assistance and who deserve the thanks of this and the Eagle Rock community.

Report of the City engineer to the effect that the cost of such plant will be $60,000, was received and filed.

On motion of Mr. Anderson a resolution was passed awarding contract for grading Glendale avenue to H. V. Gifford.

Ordinance No. 93, ordering the widening of Adams street (at Third street) passed third reading and was adopted.

Trustee Blackburn offered a resolution approving map of tract 393 and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys and public places shown thereon.

Glendale, Cal., March 18, 1909.

Editor News.

Dear Sir: Last week's editorial appears to hold me solely responsible for defeating the ordinance for creating a bond issue of $60,000 for a municipal lighting plant and to censure me for it. I admit that at first I was in favor of passing the ordinance submitting the proposition to a vote of the people, the belief that the estimate was correct and that the poling and wiring of the system could be erected for the amount above stated. Upon investigation, however, and after consulting with an expert on electric lighting plants, I discovered the estimate presented to the board of trustees, particularly on the poling and wiring and also many smaller incidentals seemed to me somewhat erroneous.

After spending considerable time in ascertaining these facts, I feel as many taxpayers would, wholly justified in opposing the ordinance creating a bond indebtedness on our little city. Had I done otherwise I would feel very much inclined to think as a trustee of the city that I would be unfaithful to the interest and the welfare of the people and would naturally deserve their censure. This is an appeal of justification for the stand I took on the matter of the proposed bond issue.

Therefore, since the ordinance on a bond issue, which was defeated one week ago, has caused a great deal of agitation and has been critizised to a great extent, in the meantime I have concluded to reconsider the proposition and it is not but fair to allow the people to vote upon a question of a municipal bond issue, although my attitude undoubtedly will remain the same as above stated.

EAGLE ROCK VALLEY

Glendale's Neighbor on the East Brought Closer by the New Electric Railroad

The new electric road now connecting Glendale with Eagle Rock will enable many of our people who have never seen that most attractive neighbor of ours, to pay it a visit. At this particular season it is at its best, the hills surrounding it are varied in their attractiveness and the valley itself is green with the spring verdure. New houses have sprung up like magic during the past year so that the population is increasing by rapid strides. The real estate people report the sales numerous and many inquiries every day. The scenic beauty of the route of the electric road through the valley attracts large numbers of visitors every day and their number will, no doubt, increase now that they can take in both that flourishing settlement and Glendale on the same trip.

EAGLE ROCK NOTES.

The Twentieth Century Club has arranged for quite an auspicious affair upon the laying of the corner stone for their handsome new club house, for which a splendid site has been donated, as also has been the architect's plan for the building. Members have already secured $2029 toward construction, by donation, lectures, parties, etc.

The club is energetic in many ways. Their program for the year is of the best for culture, instruction and amusement. At a near date the club furnishes the program for a Boyle Heights club at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Beal, Plymouth avenue. Another date is set for an address by a writer of local fame, Harriet Williams Myres, to take place at the home of Mrs. Frackleton, in the Eagle Rock foothills.

On Saturday afternoon from two to five, guests were entertained at the pretty home of Mrs. Godfrey Edwards, "Croftland," of Mayfair Park, to honor the daughter of Mrs. G. E. Myres of Highland Park, and formerly of Eagle Rock, Miss Mable Myers, who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Carl Reese of Imperial, where a home will soon be completed for the young couple.

In the drawing room were many bowls of long-stemmed yellow jonquils with their silver foliage, and over the fireplace was an artistic arrangement of purple Japanese iris. In the hall were brass bowls of nasturtiums, and in the dining room jonquils were used with quaint skill. Cut glass and exquisite china did not bear out the idea of a "Dutch luncheon," which, however, was the motif of the dainty menu. The afternoon was spent in hemming linen for the bride, each piece bearing the initial of a guest. This was followed by the search for names written in gold on place cards tied with jonquil yellow, discussion of the luncheon, and a ride on the first car from Eagle Rock into Glendale.

A very happy little affair on Saturday afternoon was a "China Shower" at pretty "Bonita Vista," the home of Mrs. Frackelton, when her daughter, Miss Lena, entertained in honor of Miss Mabel Myres. The shower was a complete surprise and the gifts very beautiful. Brides roses and California poppies were an exquisite combination for decoration. Guests were all old-time friends.

At a recent costume party, held by the Twentieth Century Club in Symphony hall, one of the dresses worn was over three hundred years old. The affair was an auspicious one and successful in every way.

It was given to swell the building fund.

A "Children's party" given in the Bank building, Friday evening, was said to be the most original and funny thing given in Eagle Rock. Grown people, dressed as children, failed entirely to recognize neighbors they had known for years. Buster Brown and his antics perhaps "took the cake," though all were delightfully funny and original.

Miss Whims of Los Angeles was a recent houseguest of Miss Lena Frackelton at "Bonita Vista," which is near the famous Eagle Rock.

A NOTED VISITOR.

Mrs. Albert Baker of Spokane, one of the three women chosen to represent the women's congress in London, Eng., was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. E. D. Goode, Cedar street, for a day last week. Mrs. Baker was a guest at the Van Nuys, Los Angeles, for a few days, and was the honor guest at several pretty affairs arranged for her. It is quite probable Mrs. Baker will make a longer stop in Glendale on her return trip. She is a noted speaker and writer, and the author of a book of poems. She is a versatile and lucid conversationalist and an authority on questions pertaining to woman's suffrage.

NEW ARRIVALS.

At the home of Mrs. Frank Campbell on Second street, Thursday morning, a son.

The stork brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ehman on Verdugo road and Third street, Wednesday last, a boy and a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. Stanton of North Glendale, Thursday, March 17th, a daughter.

GLENDALE, CAL., MARCH 20, 1909

Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood of the League of Self-Supporting Women in New York, denies that it is the women who by their patronage encourage the representations of indecent plays. She asserts that the bald-headed men are responsible. She seems to make out a pretty good case, so it becomes quite evident that there is virtue in hair—when it's on the head. Pass the invigorator, please!

THE NEW RAILROAD.

At last Glendale has a second electric railway and both sides of our city are in close touch with the metropolis a few miles distant. From this time forward we can reasonably expect to see a very rapid growth of our community as visitors will the more readily be enabled to take in the scope of the country surrounding Glendale and in the greater variety of attractions offered be able to find a home spot to their liking. A town with only one railroad unless that happily is situated in the center of populaton, is destined to be more or less one sided, but a community situated as Glendale is with an electric road on either side occupies an enviable position. We have here such an infinite variety of all those features of natural attractiveness which lure the city people in our direction, that from this time onward, we can only fail to go forward by some very obvious fault of our own. Not the least of the advantages of the new road is the closeness to Eagle Rock valley, which although geographically the same now as always, seems much closer at hand. The two communities separated by a slight range of hill and only two miles or less apart, have never heretofore associated much with each other; from this time on we believe this condition will change, much to the advantage of both. This latter fact will, we believe, compensate for the few minutes additional added to the time required for the trip between here and Los Angeles, as compared with the route along Verdugo road. The value of the new road to our city and the adjacent community is incalculable and it will increase in its beneficent effects as time passes.

AN APPRECIATION.

In the statement given to our people by Mr. Goode in which he gives a brief history of the efforts to get Glendale another railroad and which have been so happily crowned with success after long effort, he gives credit to another Glendale citizen who worked with him indefatigably for nearly three years to accomplish this object, but who has not been connected with it for the past few months. This citizen is Mr. R. A. Blackburn, at present a member of our city board of trustees, and well known to us all as one of the most enterprising and tireless workers for the success of the community. Mr. Goode and Mr. Blackburn together worked up the project for an electric road to Glendale via the Verdugo Canyon County road, spending something like two years in the effort to make this scheme a success and only failing at the last moment by failure of the principal contributor to the bonus to make good. When that project was abandoned and the Los Angeles Railway company refused to do anything, Messrs. Goode and Blackburn together took up the Eagle-Rock-Glendale proposition, and even after Mr. Blackburn withdrew, he loyally assisted, as was incidentally possible whenever the occasion offered.

Having a very definite idea of the work involved in the promotion of an enterprise so difficult as the one just completed, we take pleasure in testifying to the work done by Mr. Blackburn in this good cause, not detracting in any degree from the credit which is universally accorded to Mr. Goode. The community is to be congratulated in having a pair of such tireless boosters to work for its interests, and while they are doing so it is to be hoped that their own will be promoted.

THE RECALL AGAIN.

A Sample Case.

If every promise was a pledge and every fair appearance backed by honest worth, we should favor the recall. But having successfully passed through the callowness of youth, we may be pardoned for doubting the merit of every measure that is labeled "reform." Having opposed this theoretically beautiful scheme of government, which promises to discharge public officials and replace them on the "Make them over while you wait" plan, it is not with unalloyed regret that we note the rapid trend of events which confirm the wisdom of our opinion. One of the latest instances in which a "recall" was attempted but failed to work, occurred at Highland Park, the other night. As reported in the Los Angeles Times, it appears that our contemporary of the "Highland Park Herald," Brother Randall, objected to Councilman Dromgold, who represents the first ward in the city council—not for what he had done, but because he refused to do as the editor wanted him to, in regard to the action he should take in voting on a successor for Mayor Harper. A meeting was called for the purpose of recalling Mr. Dromgold, but it failed of its purpose and after hearing his statement endorsed his position. Now the point of this matter is that Mr. Dromgold, being a mere man and a councilman, has not yet arrived at that point where he is capable of admitting what everybody else knows, that editors are the wisest people on the face of the earth—when he arrives at that stage of development, he will understand that when an editor asks him to resign, pay up his subscription or anything else, he should unhesitatingly do it!

GET READY FOR THE GOOD ROADS

The Good Roads commission is at work and will in a short time begin the actual moving of dirt for the $3,500,000 worth of good roads that are to be constructed in Los Angeles county. On the East and North the work of this commission will run into the limits of our municipality and it will have to be met by highways which will be in character not far below, at least, the standard set by these thoroughfares to be constructed by the commission. The opening up of Sixth street and of Glendale avenue, therefore, becomes a pressing subject over which we cannot afford to lose much time. The Sixth street proposition has been discussed for some time and the city engineer has made considerable progress in getting the property owners into a reasonable frame of mind along that street, although it is regrettable that they have not yet come to an agreement as to widening the street and straightening it at the point where it crosses Verdugo Road.

The work to be done on Glendale avenue is scarcely less important, and should be more easily of accomplishment, as there are not so many property owners along the route involved, but it should not be deferred. Glendale has been losing business for months past by reason of the fact that traffic from La Crescenta and La Canyada is diverted to Los Angeles via the Verdugo road, instead of coming into the business part of Glendale, as it naturally would do if there was a good road leading into our city from the point where continuation of Glendale avenue along the Salt Lake company's track makes connection with the Verdugo Canyon road, a half mile or so above the city. Glendale avenue should be improved from First street to the northern city boundary and the way cleared from that point to the junction on Verdugo Road. There is a narrow roadway along the railroad track, but we understand that it has never been deeded to the county.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER AND ITS PATRONS.

The weekly newspaper, particularly in a small town, is no longer a luxury, but one of the necessities of our civilization. It is not the inferior of the daily publication, neither is one the rival of the other—it covers a different field,—but both are fields of infinite usefulness. Each has its special and appropriate work to do, but the weekly paper that caters primarily to the home field, comes very much nearer to the home life than the daily paper, published in another locality, however near at hand, possibly can do. A well-conducted local paper with independent, unpurchasable editorial columns and a reputation for reliability in its news department is a valuable asset to the community in which it is published. Many of the benefits resulting to the community through its efforts are indirect, but just as tangible as if they could be readily traced backward from end to origin. Every person having any interest in the community, whether as a business man, a property owner or a mere temporary dweller therein, receives of this general benefit which the paper confers.

It follows logically, therefore, that the daily paper should not, and in justice cannot, be allowed to conflict with the rights of the local publication, nor detract in a single particular from its support. Unless there is some very apparent defect in the local paper, the community can be very earnestly gauged by the support that is given it. The stranger will be impressed by the display of advertising matter it contains. If he knows that a certain business is carried on in the place where the paper is published, and that that business is not represented in the advertisements that appear in its columns, he naturally infers that the manager of the business is lacking in the proper spirit of enterprise, or local pride, or both. The weekly newspaper is the index of the community in which it is published and the intelligent reader can find between its lines an infallible indication of the character of its people; and the support given by a community to the local publication is a measure of the capacity of the people for loyalty to their own.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING PROPOSITION.

By a vote of four to one, Wednesday evening, the city trustees reversed their action of a week ago and passed the necessary resolution preparatory to calling an election to vote on a bond issue of $60,000 to acquire a municipal lighting plant. The question will therefore soon be before the public for debate and decision. When that time comes we hope to see a reasonable campaign carried on in decency and order, without any preposterous talk about "graft," or any reflections made by either side on the motives of their opponents. It is a matter that good citizens may well agree to differ about and still respect each other's opinions. It is also a very serious question and not without complexities and should be taken up with a serious desire to do that which promises to be for the greatest benefit of the greatest number, not only for the present but for the future. The city needs light, needs it badly and needs it at once. We do not believe that we should be kept in darkness while we tediously work out the question of a municipal lighting system. Whether we ultimately secure lights either through the medium of municipal ownership or from a private company of citizens, we do not believe that our streets should be left in darkness through the many months which will elapse before a permanent system can be secured. The loss to our city indirectly will be much greater if we go without lights for another year or even six months, than a temporary system of some kind would cost. We need street lights at once and believe that the people of our city will support our trustees in the expenditure of a few hundred dollars to secure them.

Meanwhile we are informed by Messrs. Frank Campbell and D. Griswold that a private gas company is going to be formed here to furnish gas to Glendale, Tropico and vicinity. Pasadena capitalists have been interested in the project and it is expected that definite announcements in regard to the enterprise will be made soon. This is a different combination from the one formerly given out which was to supply both gas and electricity. It is still expected that the latter project will be put through, but at present it is held in abeyance.

THE MUDDLE OF LOS ANGELES.

The resignation of Mayor Harper, while it serves to confirm suspicions as to his being guilty of some one at least of the charges made against him, does not do anything towards clarifying the political atmosphere. On the contrary, it is difficult to see what advantage accrues to the city by it. The same evidence used as a leverage to pry him out of office, would have had the same result at the polls a fortnight or so later had it been made public, and there would have been no legal tangle resulting. Meanwhile the district attorney has requested the court to summon a special grand jury and the evidence held by Mr. Earl and possibly others will be given to them, and later possibly, to the public.

From indications that have leaked out it is evident that Nick Oswald, the "King of the Tenderloin," has sold out his partners and told the story of the combination, suspected but heretofore not proved, which was formed for the purpose of renting rooms to the women of the underworld in the district assigned to them by the police. It will be remembered that the report of the grand jury related the cumstances leading to the suspicion that such a combination had been made in which some one in official place was probably interested. They failed, however, to obtain proof warranting their rendering of an accusation against the mayor or other official. A warrant has been issued for Oswald who has not been found and the ex-mayor has returned to "tell all he knows." Should Oswald be secured it is probable that an indictment against him for perjury committed in giving testimony before the last grand jury will be rendered with a probability that he will serve a term in the state's prison. Unless a like accusation holds against Harper, it is improbable that even if he admits his complicity in this scheme for making money out of the unfortunates of the "red light district," any criminal charge will lie against him, as the combination in itself was not criminal in the eye of the law. The issue now as far as the recall is concerned, is so confused that the vote will not mean anything in particular, as citizens will be influenced by various motives in voting either for or against it.

OBSERVATIONS.

By Edgar Leavitt.

The faculty of the Glendale Union High School and the people of the Union High School district certainly have cause to feel gratified and proud at the results shown last Saturday evening at the entertainment at the K. P. hall.

The exhibition of the art department arranged on the wall seemed to me admirable. The music, both instrumental and vocal, was pleasing and showed talent in the pupils, and success in its training by the teacher.

While I am speaking of music I wish to interject a few remarks pertinent thereto. I want to exhort, entreat and pray all singers and all music teachers to lay especial emphasis in their performances and in their teaching upon a clear distinct and correct articulation and pronounciation of the words. WORDS! Let us understand and clearly the WORDS of the songs you sing and we'll forgive something of deficiency in details of technique, which perhaps only the musical connoisseur can appreciate.

When we rank a singer's performance, at least for common people, we should, I think, put distinctness, clearness and correctness of enunciation at more than 50 per cent. so far as giving satisfaction is concerned. When will singers ever learn that we who listen care quite as much for the sense of what we hear as the sound.

And another thing, while I am acting as musical critic, why will not all musical people as well as we common folks appreciate and insist upon the superior charm and beauty of pure, clear and steady tones? Why will singers not learn the distinction between the verbs "warble" and "wobble." That tremulo stop may be all right in certain passages, but it is sadly overdone. Some singers do nothing but wobble. It seems to be the only style they are mistresses of, and the bad affectation mistresses them. We wouldn't like a violin or organ play all the time with the tremulo stop out. Why should the human organ be so played upon? If musicians themselves will not heed and reform, their friends and audiences should give them a gentle hint now and then, as I have tried to do in these few lines.

To return to the High School. The scene from the "Merchant of Venice" was fine. Shylock was a masterpiece. Portia was dignified and charming, the costume-effect was fine and we could almost realize ourselves back in the Shakespearean time.

The discussion was good, but not even in its quality. The affirmation seemed to lose sight of the fact that t'was not their's simply to show that "Vice is Protected in Los Angeles," but to show that the Recall was justified as the remedy. Logically they should have showed that an administration that did and allowed what Mayor Harper publicly confessed, and what the grand jury reported, should not be allowed in office longer than it would take by orderly and legal methods to get him out. It should not run on, corrupting the stream of public and private honor. It's removal should be made not merely as a punishment, but as an example, and a warning,—not for expediency merely, but for principle; in view of which the fact that the remainder of the term is short, should have no weight. The advisability of removal being established, two ways only remained open,—the process of legal action and trial by a court, and the process of the Recall. Had the court process been resorted to, what difficulties would arise, the experience of San Francisco shows. To get an unprejudiced judge; to select a jury of men who had not found opinions, and yet had heard all the discussion that has been going on; who were intelligent and yet had not read the papers; who had lived in Los Angeles county, and yet had not heard the matter mentioned. The case would have been a cause of interminable wrangling, and apepals, and affidavits, and counter affidavits, which would have dragged on for years, certainly till the original cause of controversy had ceased to exist.

On the other hand how expeditiously the Recall has worked—and it will work effectively and as it should in this case, despite the threats of its enemeis to resort to legal means to defeat it. And its practical working will prove its worth and advisability. It is not impossible, indeed, that experience may suggest modifications in minor details, but the principle and its value will be recognized; it will become an American institution; it has come to stay.

THE HOO-DOOS AGAIN.

Dr. and Mrs. Colegrove were responsible! Early Friday night the usual number of Hoo-Dooes gathered silently and with decorum at their home on Fifth street, near Brand boulevard. Mrs. Colegrove opened Pandora's box, and fun once let loose was soon beyond control. At a reasonamble hour, for Hoo-Dooes, the hostess opened the dining room, where delectable dainties were spread in very close imitation of a real party. The highest score of the season was reached and interviews with "Hoyle" were suspected.

BOARD OF TRADE.

There was a well-attended meeting of the reorganized Board of Trade held at the city hall, Monday evening. Chairman Vesper called the meeting to order. A number of names were added to the roll of membership. Election of officers took place, resulting in the selection of the following: President, F. H. Vesper; vice president, L. H. Hurtt; secretary, G. H. Barager; treasurer, J. C. Sherer. On motion the chairman was authorized to appoint an executive committee of six, who will be named soon. The by-laws were amended, making the initiation fee one dollar and the monthly dues fifty cents. The regular monthly meeting was fixed for the first Monday evening in each month. It is hoped that the list of members can be raised to 200 names. Every person interested in Glendale and vicinity is requested to join.

HOUSE ROBBED, VALUABLES STOLEN.

The residence of Mr. McConnell on Sixth street, east of Verdugo road, was entered during the absence of the family, Monday afternoon last, and robbed of twenty dollars in gold and a quantity of jewelry. Mrs. McConnell principally regrets the loss of some jewelry prized more for its associations than for the intrinsic value, although that is considerable. The robbery is thought to have been perpetrated by some one in the vicinity.

SOMETHING PLEASANTLY NEW.

Mrs. Charles Shattuck, Mrs. Thomas Thornton, Mrs. Daniel Campbell and several other energetic members of the Woman's Auxiliary, have proposed as something pleasantly novel and "different" a splendid series of musicales, the first to be given on Monday afternoon, March 22d, at half after two.

Those gifted with musical talent, both members of the Auxiliary and those of the Country Club who are not, will contribute to the program. As each Monday afternoon is turned over to the ladies who are wives of members, this will, no doubt, prove a popular way of spending them.

GLENDALE MARKET CHANGES HANDS.

Messrs. Whaley and Vaughn have bought out the Glendale Meat Market on Fourth street in the Watson block, corner of Glendale avenue, and propose to give our people first-class service. The proprietors are young men who have been in the same business in Los Angeles for some time past and have come to Glendale to grow up with the town.

PRETTY BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A spring time baby party was greatly enjoyed Friday afternoon, held to honor the second birthday of sweet Mary Elizabeth Anderson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cornelius Anderssen of Cedar street. Streamers of pink and white garlanded the rooms, intertwined with spring blossoms, and the babies were hilariously happy. Mothers of the babies and friends of the birthday child were present. The long table under a dainty canopy, was spread with cake, pink crepe bon-bon baskets, pink and white ice-cream and little heaps of stick candy. Pink satin ribbon and marguerites interwoven spelled the little hostess's name across the white linen.

When the littlest ones resumed their play, Mrs. Ellen Brown Newcomb, great grandmother of little Mary Elizabeth, read an original poem written for the occasion, which is given:

Did you go to the land where smiles are grown,
And gather them up, little maid, for your own?
To scatter them free with a winning grace,
To cheer and brighten a care-worn face?
And did the good fairies, while you were there
Put in the light of your eyes and hair,
And teach you the power of a fond caress
And the happy ways that your loved ones bless?
Did your guardian angel, hovering near,
Give you the key to my heart, my dear?
My heart—where you found a loving place,

—ELLEN BROWN NEWCOMB.

Mrs. Thomas, whose birthday also occurred on that day, acted as assistant hostess.

TRACK MEET AT HOLLYWOOD.

Glendale won the honors at the track meet at Hollywood last week, the total points being 73 to 33, in favor of our boys. The Glendale winners of first place in the various events were as follows:

Pole vault, Walton; high jump, Davenport; shot put, Emery; broad jump, Rhodes; 50-yard dash, Stine; 440-yards, Cotteral; 880-yards, Walton; mile, Walton; 120-hurdles, Taylor; 320-hurdles, Stine.

Dalton's Experiment.

The English chemist Dalton was a schoolteacher. He worked without a laboratory and with crude apparatus, mostly made by himself from simple materials. Here is an example described in his own words:

"Took an ale glass of a conical figure, two and a half inches in diameter and three inches deep; filled it with water that had been standing in the room and consequently of the temperature of the air nearly; put the bulb of the thermometer to the bottom of the glass, the scale being out of the water. Then, having marked the temperature, I put the redhot tip of the poker half an inch deep in the water, holding it there steadily for half a minute, and as soon as it was withdrawn I dipped the bulb of a sensible thermometer into the water, when it rose in a few seconds to 180 degrees."

He then determined the temperature of the water at the bottom after five minutes, after twenty minutes and after an hour and found that it rose gradually from 47 to 52 degrees. This simple experiment proved that water has the power to conduct heat, which had been denied by no less an authority than Rumford.—Youth's Companion.

The Mistake He Made.

He sauntered into the central police station and approached the desk sergeant. There was a careworn look on his face. He stood there a moment as if in reverie. Finally as tears coursed down his cheeks he timidly said:

"I want to give myself up."

"What have you done that you should seek a felon's cell?" the sergeant asked.

"I have long been a fugitive from justice. The welfare of society demands that I should be punished."

"But what is it? What heinous offense have you committed?"

"I am a bigamist—yea, a polygamist—and I don't dare think what worse. No longer must I keep it from the world. Lock me up. I am ready to do penance."

"But will you not explain?"

"Yes, if you insist. I thought I married only the daughter, but I have found, to my sorrow, that the whole family was included."—Kansas City Independent.

An Eccentric Russian Doctor.

The famous Russian, the late Dr. Zaharin, was noted for his eccentric methods. When summoned to attend Czar Alexander III. in his last illness, Dr. Zaharin required the same preparation for his visit to the palace as to any of his patients' houses. That is to say, all dogs had to be kept out of the way, all clocks stopped and every door thrown wide open. He left his furs in the hall, his overcoat in the next room, his galoches in the third, and, continuing, arrived at the bedside in ordinary indoor costume. He sat down after walking every few yards and every eight steps in going upstairs. From the patient's relatives and every one else in the house he required absolute silence until he spoke to them, when his questions had to be answered by "Yes" or "No" and nothing more.

A Necessity.

"Twenty dollars for retrimming your hat!" exclaimed Mr. Madison. "But we agreed to spend nothing except for things that were positively needed."

"Well, John, this is. You see, my best friend has just had hers retrimmed, and I have promised to go with her to the concert on Friday."

"Oh, all right. But I can't give you more than fifteen this morning, because I broke my meerschaum and must have it mended."

"Can't you smoke your old brierwood?"

"Certainly, dear. And you can wear your old hat."

"All right."—New York Herald.

"Victorien Sardou hated shams," said a New York theatrical manager. "If you tried to impose on him he would call you down.

"At the Ambigu during a rehearsal he said he doubted an actor's statement that he had given forty hours of study to his lines.

"'You doubt me?' said the actor hotly. "I assure you, M. Sardou, I have never lied but twice in my life.'

"Sardou smiled dryly.

"'Then this makes thrice, eh?' said he."

He Was Slow.

He uttered a joyous cry.

"And I am really and truly the first man you ever kissed?"

"Yes, Clarence," the beautiful girl rejoined, her red lip curling slightly. "The others all took the initiative."—Kansas City Independent.

Feats That Never Happened.

A grotesque and foolish view of the west leads many who are not acquainted with that part of the country to perpetrate amusing blunders regarding the possibilities of the typical western weapons, the rifle and the six shooter. To shoot an animal's eye out at a hundred paces is a common feat in wild west literature. Sometimes it is done with a six shooter—in type, not anywhere else. Of course, no man can see the eye of an animal that far. I have had a good rifleman tell me he could cut off a robin's head at a hundred steps. The truth is that he could not see the head clearly that far. You read that the desperado Slade could with a six shooter at fifty or sixty steps hit a man in any button of his coat that he chose, but you may be sure that neither Slade nor any one else could do anything of the kind. Even trick and fancy shooting at its best could ever cover feats ascribed as matters of course to the average frontiersman by those devotees of frenzied fiction who never saw the frontier.—Outing Magazine.

Eluding the Officers.

Here is an amusing description of one of Balzac's periods of impecuniosity. Mery, the poet, a great friend of Balzac, was an inveterate gambler and rarely left the card table before daybreak. His way lay past the Cafe de Paris, and for four consecutive mornings he had met Balzac strolling leisurely up and down dressed in a pantalon a pieds (trousers not terminating below the ankle, but with feet in them like stockings) and frock coat with velvet facings. The second morning Mery felt surprised at the coincidence; the third he was puzzled; the fourth he could hold out no longer and asked Balzac the reason of these nocturnal perambulations roundabout the same spot.

Balzac put his hand in his pocket and produced an almanac showing that the sun did not rise before 3:50. "I am being tracked by the officers of the tribunal de commerce and obliged to hide myself during the day, but at this hour I am free and can take a walk, for as long as the sun is not up they cannot arrest me."

Milk on a Stick.

In winter time milk goes to the buyer in a chunk instead of a quart, says a Glasgow paper. The people in Siberia buy their milk frozen, and for convenience it is allowed to freeze about a stick, which comes as a handle to carry it by. The milkman leaves one chunk or two chunks, as the case may be, at the houses of his customers. The children in Irkutsk, instead of crying for a drink of milk, cry for a bite of milk. The people in winter time do not say, "Be careful not to spill the milk," but "Be careful not to break the milk." Broken milk is better than spilled milk, though, because there is an opportunity to save the pieces. A quart of frozen milk on a stick is a very formidable weapon in the hand of an angry man or boy, as it is possible to knock a person down with it. Irkutsk people hang their milk on hooks instead of putting it in pans, though, of course, when warm spring weather comes on they have to use the pans or pails as the milk begins to melt and drop down the hooks.

The Illusion of Night.

I sometimes fancy that every great city must have been built by night. At least it is only at night that every part of a great city is great. All architecture is great architecture after sunset. Perhaps architecture is really a nocturnal art, like the art of fireworks. At least I think many people of those nobler trades that work by night (journalists, policemen, burglars, coffee stall keepers and such mistaken enthusiasts as refuse to go home till morning) must often have stood admiring some black bulk of building with a crown of battlements or a crest of spires and then burst into tears at daybreak to discover that it was only a haberdasher's shop with huge gold letters across the face of it.—G. A. Chesterton in London News.

Tax on Hats.

Not only have hats at various times been subject to taxation, but have even been made the subject of special laws. Thus in Henry VII.'s reign none was allowed to sell hats at a larger price than 20 pence or caps for more than 2s. 8d. Some compensation, however, for this interference with free trade could be found in the fact that in 1571 on Sundays and holidays every one above seven years of age was required to wear a cap of wool of English make under penalty of 3 farthings fine for every day's neglect.—London Chronicle.

Needed Mourning.

The Lady—I haven't much in the house to give you, my poor man, but would you like a piece of my pie? The Hobo—No, lady. But have yer got a old black coat? The Lady—Why do you want a black one? The Hobo—De feller yer gave a piece o' pie to de odder day was a pal o' mine.—Cleveland Leader.

A Convenience.

Curate—And so, Mrs. Howard, you come to church every Sunday? Mrs. Howard—Yes, Mr. Priestly. We're such strangers in town yet that we have no other engagements.—Brooklyn Life.

The Poor Woman.

"He climbed almost to the top of the ladder—and then fell off."

"What was the trouble?"

"There was a woman at the bottom of it."—Life.

Liberty cannot be established without morality nor morality without faith.—Greeley.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

March 21st, 1909.

(Copyright, 1908, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Review.

Golden Text—They that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word. Acts viii:4.

The following review scheme can be used with profit by all the newspaper clubs who are taking up the Bible studies, whether having actually studied the eleven lessons here reviewed, or only one of them, or whether this is the first lesson which has captured a reader's attention; for while it is a "review," it is also complete in itself.

The date and title of each lesson and where found, the Golden Text, and one question on each lesson follow.

Jan. 3—Acts I:1-14. The Ascension of Our Lord. Golden Text: Luke xxiv: 51. It came to pass while he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven.

Verses 10, 11—Would the coming of the Spirit of Jesus on the day of Pentecost, be the return of Jesus as these two men meant?

Jan. 10—Acts ii:1-21. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. Golden Text. John xiv:16, 17. I will pray the Father and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever, even the Spirit of Truth.

Verses 6-12—An educated ministry is desirable but which will make the most converts, a man with fair intelligence and a common school education, filled with the Holy Spirit, or an university graduate lacking that experience?

Jan. 17—Acts ii:22-47. The Beginning of the Christian Church. Golden Text. Acts ii:42. They continued steadfastly in the Apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread and in prayers.

Verse 22—How is it that Jesus has impressed Himself upon the world as no other man has ever done, and that he has swayed the hearts of the lowly and mighty alike, and that His influence is increasing with the years?

Jan. 24—Acts iii:1-26. The Lame Man Healed. Golden Text. Acts iii:16. His name, through faith in His name, hath made this man strong, whom ye see and know.

Verse 6—Need the lack of money or ability ever prevent any man from doing the work in life which God has appointed him to do?

Jan. 31—Acts iv:1-31. The Trial of Peter and John. Golden Text. Acts iv: 31. They were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God with boldness.

Verses 1-3—Have priests and preachers, in the past, been quick or slow, to see God's new revelations of truth, whether in science or theology?

Feb. 7.—Acts iv:32 to v:11. True and False Brotherhood. Golden Text. Prov. xii:22. Lying lips are an abomination unto the Lord; but they that deal truly are His delight.

Verses 34, 35—Is faithfulness to God a sure cure for shortness of money?

Feb. 14—Acts v:17-42. The Apostles Imprisoned. Golden Text. Matt. v:10. Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake; for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven.

Verses 34-40—Is it not true that the heretics of one generation have been the saints of the next?

Feb. 21—Acts vi:1 to vii:3. Stephen, the First Christian Martyr. Golden Text. Acts vii:59. They stoned Stephen, calling upon God, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.

Verses 11-13—When a man with right views of truth, gets angry at the man with wrong views and persecutes him, which the latter takes with meekness, which is likely the better man of the two?

Feb. 28—Acts viii:4-25. The Gospel in Samaria. Golden Text. Acts viii:6. The people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

Verses 9-11—Is there any evidence to believe that there are, or ever have been, persons with the power claimed by witches, conjurers, fortune tellers and similar fakirs?

March 7—Acts viii:26-40. Philip and the Ethiopian. Golden Text. John v:39. Search the scriptures for in them ye think ye have eternal life; and they are they which testify of me.

Verse 26.—May any person, who is not playing double with God, safely trust "the inward voice" to direct as to outward circumstances?

March 14—Acts ix:31-43. Aeneas and Dorcas. Golden Text. Acts ix:34. And Peter said unto him, Aeneas, Jesus Christ maketh thee whole; arise and make thy bed. And he arose immediately.

Verses 36-38—How do you classify those who content themselves with going to church and prayer meeting, and talking, and praying, but are not following Jesus, in going about doing good? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.

POSSIBLY you who read this have never had a bank account. If not, let us suggest that you make the experiment. You will find it helpful in many ways. Aside from this, the fact that your money will be safe from theft and fire, such a habit tends to thrift, economy, discipline and a general understanding of business principles, all of which are essential to success. It also affords a convenient method for the payment of bills; and as the checks are always preserved and returned to you, they serve as receipts for the amounts paid.

An account with this bank will be to your advantage.

CEAD MILLE FAILTHE!

A "hundred thousand welcomes," it was indeed which Mrs. Arthur Campbell of North Glendale, extends to her guests, Monday afternoon, in the parlors at the Country Club house. The hostess was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. Blue. Green and white banners bore the Irish welcome "Cead mille failthe," and the green Irish flag was everywhere in evidence. Growing shamrock graced tables and mantel, and garlands of greenery entwined the archways and hid electric globes.

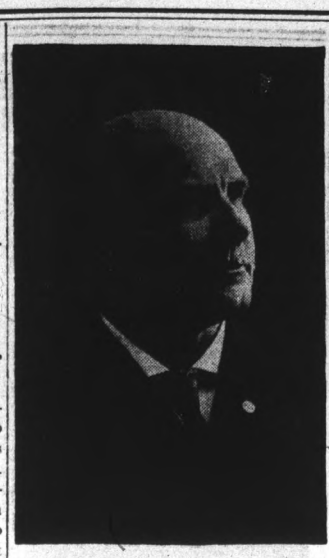
Following the reception hour, there was a social time, during which Mrs. Nanpo Woods, an Irish recitress of Hollywood, gave some decidedly good numbers. Her "Ireland" brought generous applause, as did her recitation of "Mrs. O'Shanuessey on Women's Clubs." A "paddy game" proved to be guessing the completion of partly written sentences on green paper shamrock leaves that were pinned about the drawing room. The prizes were won by Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, they guessing the highest number. The gifts were an Irish drawn-thread table spread and a fine Irish linen handkerchief, beautiful with shamrock and embroidery.

Mrs. Campbell, as hostess for the March "third Monday," was gowned in a princess frock of Irish linen, entire front panel embroidered in dainty shamrock leaves. With Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. Blue, she led the way into the dining room where tables contained the shamrock, hot tea and cakes.

CRYSTAL WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Anderson, of Fourth street, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage, last Thursday evening by a dinner given to a few friends who assembled to help them commemorate the happy event. The house was tastefully decorated in red, white and green, the table being rendered especially attractive by flowers and foliage, aside from the tempting dishes that ministered to the inner man and woman. The evening was one of thorough enjoyment for all present, the guests sincerely rejoicing with and congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Anderson upon the event celebrated. The following were among those present: Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zerr, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. David MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rich, Miss Frances Wannamacher, Rev. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robinson and daughter, Mr. M. Addison, and Miss A. Anderson of Los Angeles.

If the party seen to leave the residence of Mr. McConnell, East Sixth street, Glendale, Monday afternoon, the 15th, desire to avoid prosecution, they will return the money and jewelry taken and no questions will be asked.



No reader of these lines should forget that Hon. Eugene W. Chafin, late Prohibition candidate for president of these United States, is to speak in Glendale, Monday, March 22d, afternoon and evening, Odd Fellows' hall at 2:30 p. m., and Knights of Pythias' hall at 7:30 p. m.

It is not often that a town the size of Glendale is favored with the presence of a real live presidential candidate, and Bro. Chafin is very much alive, as all agree who hear him speak on public issues. He is fully the equal of the candidate of any political party had in the last campaign, and every one who can should give himself the pleasure and profit of hearing him. Admission free.

FROM LIBBY TO LIBERTY.

Saturday 27th is the date set for the best lecture Glendale has secured in many a day. Capt. James M. Wells will give his famous lecture on "From Libby to Liberty," under auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at Odd Fellows hall. Capt. Wells will relate his escape, in company with others, from Libby prison. Later Capt. Wells met Lincoln and to him personally told his adventures.

The captain recently returned from Chicago, where he addressed a large audience in the interest of the Beldon school, when the Chicago Press spoke highly of the lecture. Everyone will be interested in this address, especially the G. A. R.'s, andW. R. C.'s. The schools, the churches and all these and fraternal societies are urged to attend. The affair is given under auspices of the civics committee, for the drinking fountain fund.

TROPICO IMPROVEMENT MEETING

The regular meeting of the Tropico Improvement association was held in Logan's hall, last Tuesday evening. The meeting was largely attended.

The secretary had notified the Glendale people and in response a committee from that association was present and gave short talks in favor of the road and urging the people of this place to stand with their people, and they thought it was very probable to secure the boulevard if the two associations worked together.

Mr. Wattles, as chairman of the boulvard committee, gave a report, which was quite lengthy but interesting. He stated that the committee had done everything in their power and up to the present time they had been impossible to decide upon any plan by which the money could be raised. He stated that to open the boulevard would require $5,400. If Tropico could raise one-half of this money, the county would be willing to donate the remainder. Of the $2,700 necessary for the Tropico people to raise, $1200 has already been subscribed, and Mr. Wattles stated that he thought it would, under the present conditions, be possible to raise the other part of the money. The matter of opening one side of the boulevard was suggested and Mr. Davenport, another member of the committee, stated that he thought it would be possible to secure the opening of one side of the thoroughfare.

Mr. Davenport, as chairman of the sign posts committee, reported that the committee had prepared an estimate on the sign posts which will be needed for this place. He said that there must be 50 new posts and fifteen of the posts repainted. He suggested that the signs be placed on one side of the street only and that the lettering be done on both sides of the sign. This report was accepted and the committee requested to continue with the work until the posts were placed.

Dr. J. O. Garmon stated that the people along the northern side of Tropico avenue between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard, would be glad to put in a sidewalk if the location of the curb line could be ascertained.

Chairman Hobbs, of the street improvement committee, reported that he did not see that there was any way, and that it would not be fair, to ask the people of Tropico, who have nice shade trees to dig up those trees and plant others in order that all the trees along certain streets might be uniform. As a suggestion he said that the Black Acacia was, in his estimation, about the best tree that can be planted for street purposes.

It was stated that hereafter it would be possible for the improvement society to meet in the Tropico school, if the society would pay for the lighting and furnish chairs. The committee on meeting place was instructed to see that the house is in proper condition for the next meeting which will be held on the third Monday of April.
